‘How Corrupt is Britain?’ is a one day conference which will bring together campaigners, academics, key public figures and journalists to explore how we should tackle the corruption of public life in Britain.

Speakers include:

- Steve Acheson (Blacklist Support Group)
- David Beetham (University of Leeds)
- Alan Brecknell and Paul O’Conner (Pat Finucane Centre)
- John Christensen (Tax Justice Network)
- Deborah Coles (Inquest)
- Sheila Coleman (Hillsborough Justice Campaign)
- Penny Green (The International State Crime Initiative)
- Joanna Gilmore (Northern Police Monitoring Project)
- Luke Hildyard (High Pay Centre)
- Carolyn Jones (Institute of Employment Rights)
- Paul Jones and Michael Mair (University of Liverpool)
- Paul Lewis (The Guardian)
- Colin Leys (Goldsmiths University of London)
- David Miller (Spinwatch)
- Martin Moore (Media Standards Trust and Hacked Off)
- Peter North (University of Liverpool)
- Rizwaan Sabir (University of Bath)
- Prem Sikka (University of Essex)
- Steve Tombs (Open University)
- Enrico Tortolano (Public and Commercial Services Union)
- Hilary Wainwright (Red Pepper)
- Jorg Wiegratz (University of Leeds)
- David Whyte (University of Liverpool)
- Stuart Wilks-Heeg (Democratic Audit)

£20 and £5 low waged and students. To register please visit: http://bit.ly/Wkdqpp

The conference has been organised jointly by the Centre for Crime and Justice Studies and the University of Liverpool School of Law and Social Justice: http://bit.ly/10SnCcg

For more details visit: www.crimeandjustice.org.uk/hcib.html