

What Is OpenLearn?

Contributors in clip: Cerys Matthews

Clip transcript:

Cerys Matthews [narrator]:

Curiosity... you never lose it. OpenLearn provides free educational resources for the insatiably curious all around the world. And not just courses – there's articles, videos, features, games and more, created by academic experts and guest contributors. Explore new topics and refresh your skills, whether for further study, or the sheer pleasure of learning. You'll find hundreds of free courses on everything from art to forensics to project planning, and earn free digital badges to show employers everything you've learned. Plus you'll find information about our many broadcasts with the BBC and other partners, and catch up with our latest projects on BBC iPlayer. So to truly satisfy your curiosity, visit OpenLearn – the home of free learning from The Open University.