

Crime, Harm and the State

Thursday, 5 July 2018 10:00 - 17:00

Christodoulou Meeting Room 11, Open University, MK7 6AA

Draft Programme

10.15-10.30 Welcome and Introductions

10.30-12.00 Session One: some foundational issues

Lynne Copson (The Open University) Social harm and zemiology: setting the scene

Simon Pemberton (University of Birmingham) The importance of the notion of 'preventable harm': A case study of Austerity

Avi Boukli (The Open University) Zemiology, gender and sexuality

12.00-1.00 Lunch

1.00-2.30 Session Two: Beyond anthropocentrism: a case study in moving from crime to harm

Tanya Wyatt (University of Northumbria) Green Crime and Harm

Matthew Cole (The Open University) Contesting zoicide: harm and nonhuman animals

2.30-3.00 Break

3.00-4.30 Session 3. The production and dimension of harms

Steve Tombs (The Open University) How does harm work?

Alex Dymock (Royal Holloway, University of London) Social Harm and the Criminalisation of Pornography

