

Interdependence Day 2007

making new maps for an island planet

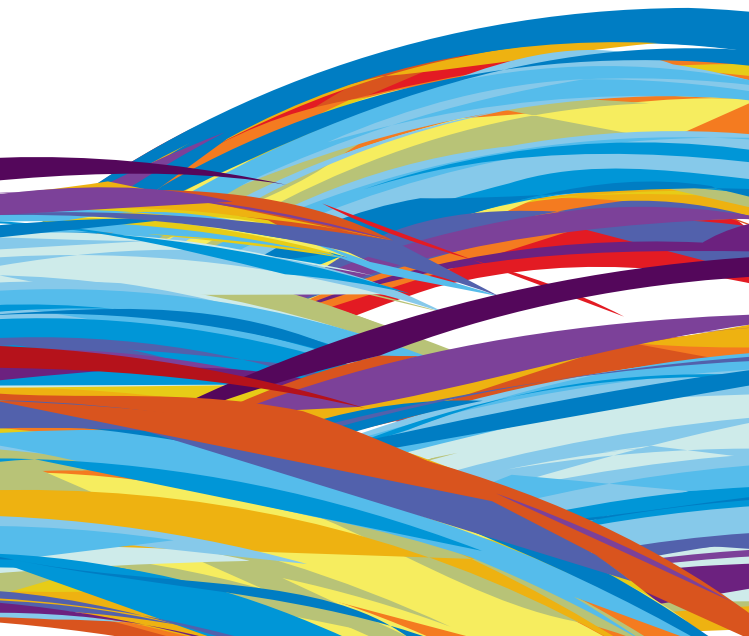

Saturday 20th October 2007

Doors 10.00am

Programme 11.00am – 5.00pm

The Royal Geographical Society

South Kensington

When the world seems out of control, the only thing to do is connect. Join us to...

Pick-up a prescription at the Planet Doctor's Surgery – a drop-in workshop with experts to help diagnose the world's problems

Play your part in crafting a new map of global Interdependence in the historic map room

Hear the latest thinking from key international figures who will offer their own Declarations of Interdependence

Soak up the mini-film festival in the Ondaatje Theatre and question top artists, film-makers, TV and web producers about new ways of looking at the world

Play climatetalk and devise new ways of acting on climate change

Question whether growth is possible in a debate hosted by BBC Radio 4

Do good lives have to cost the earth? Debate the question of our time

Dive into the deep water through the 'Water Salon' debate from the Dirt Cafe

Get sticky with the Carbon Map - tracing the trail of the global oil and gas trade and its effects

Sew a subversive stitch with Guerrilla Craft

Meet artists, designers and authors who are working with environmental change

Join the 'participating in change' workshop to explore ways the public can engage with environmental issues

Get to the core of it by celebrating Apple Day with games, music and poetry

Play your part in mapping a fresh path through climate change and globalisation with campaigners, scientists, activists, musicians, artists and performers.

Explore the threats and opportunities of life in a fast-changing and warming world with lectures, workshops, performance, new works of art and games.

Warning! Watch out for random acts of kindness and senseless beauty.

Tickets

Advance £10 (£7.50 conc)

Available from Ticketline on 0871 424 4444 or www.ticketline.co.uk

On door £12 (£9.50 conc)

Pay By Cheque Make payable to new economics foundation, add 50p postage per order, please include contact details.

Post no later than 12/10/07 to nef, 3 Jonathan Street, London SE11 5NH.

More Information

e-mail: interdependence@neweconomics.org

web: www.interdependenceday.co.uk

venue: Royal Geographic Society, 1 Kensington Gore, London SW7 2AR nearest tube: South Kensington

