

The Black Majority Churches and Ecumenism

30 October 2018, 12:30-3.30pm

New Testament Church of God, Leadership Training Centre, 3 Cheyne Walk, Northampton, NN1 5PT

To recognise Black History Month, this event will explore historical and contemporary perspectives on the Black Majority Churches in the UK and ecumenism. It will include a historical talk by Dr John Maiden (Senior Lecturer, Religious Studies, Open University) entitled ‘Partnership not paternalism’: the Black Majority Churches and Ecumenism’. This will be followed by a time for reflection and discussion chaired by the Revd. Phyllis Thompson (New Testament Church of God). There will also be an opportunity to visit the NTCG Heritage Centre.

Cost: £5 (includes lunch and refreshments).

To book or for more details,
please contact Mrs Edris Buchanan-Edwards at education@ntcg.org.uk by 19 October.

The event is hosted by the New Testament Church of God, and is supported by the Religious Studies department at the Open University and the Religious Archives Group.

Background image by Steve Johnson on Unsplash.