

CCIG forum 29 : Affective Practices and the Constitution of Publics

Tuesday 26 February 2013 , 11:00 – 16:00
The Open University MK, Christodoulou Meeting Room 15

This CCIG forum is co-organised by the Publics and the Psychosocial Research programmes and will explore what is at stake in translations of the personal into the public and the public into the personal.

Focusing on spaces of artistic and policy practice it will ask questions about the diverse emotional geographies and affective practices that arise as practitioners working in different fields conjure connections between the personal and the public. These questions link very different sites and sets of practices which our speakers will begin to explore in relation to artistic practices, public sector institutions and policy.

Programme:

11.00 CCIG updates (Jef Huysmans, CCIG Director)

11.15 Introduction to the Forum: Gail Lewis and John Clarke (CCIG, Open University)

11.30 - 1.00 Presentation by Olivia Plender (Artist)

1.00-1.45 Lunch

1.45 -3.15: Presentations by:

Lynn Froggett (University of Central Lancashire): Civic participation, displacement anxiety and community based art

Ellie Jupp (Open University): Approaching the emotional geographies of social policy

3.15-3.30 tea

3.30-4.15 Round table discussion led by Gail Lewis and John Clarke (CCIG, Open University)

For more details and registration online, please visit our website:
www.open.ac.uk/ccig/events/