E. Frequently Asked Questions

How were the eligibility criteria decided?

The aim of the scholarship is to open up higher education to underrepresented groups and ensure that these students receive the support they need to succeed in their studies. The eligibility criteria were designed to encourage individuals from specific target groups to study with The Open University.

Why do the entry criteria positively discriminate when The Open University claims to be “open to all”?

We value all our students and we want to do our best to ensure that the OU reflects the whole of our society. Our analysis indicates that currently we have a shortfall in the numbers of students we would like to attract from some groups of UK society. Widening access to and success in higher education is at the heart of the OU’s mission. We aim to support students whatever their backgrounds, to reach their potential and fulfil their ambitions.

Why isn’t the scholarship open to all students?

Scholarship funds are limited, it is therefore not possible to open the scheme up to all students. This limit on funds was considered when determining who the scholarship would be available to. The eligibility criteria are in place to maximise the benefits of the scheme and ensure it reaches those who will benefit from it most.
