Qualification description
The Open University’s Certificate in Higher Education in Community Policing Practice is the qualification underpinning the non-integrated Police Community Support Officer Apprenticeship at Level 4. The programme provides students with the opportunity to gain their professional competence and a qualification through the Government’s Apprenticeship scheme.

This Certificate in Higher Education provides employer-sponsored apprentices with 60 credits of core academic perspectives in policing at level 4 of study (BXY136 Concepts and theories in policing) combined with another 60 credits of facilitated work-based learning taking place within the Apprentice’s employment context (BXY138 Professional PCSO Practice) – a total of 120 credits at level 4. The qualification is designed so that it can be completed within a 12-month period. Following successful completion of the qualification, the apprentice will then need to pass the non-integrated End Point Assessment (EPA) for the PCSO Apprenticeship within three months.

This Certificate in Higher Education meets the standard for the Police Community Support Officer Apprenticeship (PCSO-A), which was developed by the College of Policing and approved by the Institute for Apprenticeships and Technical Education (IfATE) in 2018.

The Practice Tutor is managed and reports to the Faculty of Business and Law (FBL) Student Experience Manager.

All Practice Tutors appointed to this module will be required to pass both a Non-Police Personnel Vetting Level 3 (NPPV 3) and an enhanced Disclosure and Barring Services (DBS) check

The Practice Tutor will provide learning support for a specific cohort of students to progress to completion of the qualification, as well as coaching and supporting the apprentice’s progress through the apprenticeship qualification up to the gateway for End Point Assessment.

The Practice Tutor is the first point of contact for the student in dealing with any matter related to their practice-based learning in the qualification – and will be responsible for delivering ongoing student learning support, marking, and providing feedback on student assessment work.

Job description
The role includes:

- Contributing to the effective induction of individual students to the qualification, in collaboration with OU colleagues. Prior to the start of the work-based learning module (BXY138) this will include participation in an induction event for the PCSO-A cohort, possibly held at the police force’s premises.

- Participating in the initial face-to-face induction meeting with each student, plus their mentor and/or line manager, to agree parameters of each other’s role and responsibilities, act as first point of contact, establish learning goals for the apprenticeship, ensure Individual Learning Plan has been agreed, and agree methods of communication.

- Organising and leading quarterly tripartite qualification and module progress reviews (with the student and their mentor / manager) at the North Yorkshire Police premises. These reviews will include the student’s progression towards each learning outcome and PCSO-A standard, the practice learning opportunities accessed, application of learning from the academic module, and the practice learning opportunities to be sought during the remainder of each module – through development of the student’s learning plan. Ensure Individual Learning Plan has been agreed and updated, and that Off the Job hours are recorded and monitored.
• Providing tutor and coaching support including: the use of online assessment processes (including marking and providing feedback for assignments on the work-based learning modules); supporting the students’ use of the e-portfolio to provide evidence of their application of learning towards achievement of professional competencies in the PCSO-A standard; the application of policing concepts through the work-based learning modules and practice-based learning experiences; and the summative assessment of the student’s Work Based Project to ensure successful completion of the qualification.

• Assess apprentices’ occupational competencies (Knowledge, Skills and Behaviours) demonstrated through work-generated evidence, supporting the apprentices’ use of the e-portfolio to collect, collate, select and reflect on evidence for EPA submission.

• Prepare and support the student in their submission of their PCSO-A End Point Assessment (EPA), and confirm that apprentices have met all the ‘gateway’ requirements.

• Having an overview of the progress of a group of students throughout their academic module studies, including appropriate liaison with the relevant tutors and the Practice Tutor’s line manager (FBL Student Experience Manager)

• Maintaining satisfactory records for each student to ensure compliance documentation is completed, within specified timelines, in relation to each apprentice’s engagement with and progress towards completing their qualification. Advise OU of any change of circumstances.

• Ensuring appropriate student support is put in place as necessary (in association with other relevant staff) if a student is at risk of failing/making unsatisfactory progress; evaluating the need for additional support and ensuring that it is provided - liaising with the FBL Student Experience Manager and the OU Apprenticeship Programme Delivery Manager on progress, as required

• Identify apprentices at risk of non-progression on any aspect of their apprenticeship and co-ordinate interventions with OU staff as required. Keeping in contact with any apprentices on a break in learning to prepare for return to study, as required.

• Contributing to the support and quality assurance of police force partners in their delivery of work-based learning elements as required in the co-delivery model. Monitor and escalate issues directly to APDM and Student Experience Manager is appropriate.

• Support apprentices in relation to the OU’s Safeguarding, Prevent and British Values policies – raising awareness and responsibility within the apprentice’s organisation.

• Monitor effectiveness and impact of additional learning support and reasonable adjustments where provided.

Person specification

• Have either a minimum first degree in subjects listed in Appendix A, or relevant equivalent experience of policing (for example, at least 10 years in relevant police force roles to evidence practical knowledge of policing relating to the criteria of the PCSO standard). [assessed on application form]

• Provide evidence of experience in teaching and/or coaching adults (substantial coaching, facilitation and training experience in the workplace will be considered as an alternative to formal teaching, although additional weighting will be given to candidates with HE teaching experience). [assessed on application form and at interview]

• Provide evidence of experience as an Assessor of work-based competencies in the work environment (for example, Assessor Qualifications such as A1, TAQA, CAVA, or D32, D33). [assessed on application form]

• Demonstrable relevant practical experience of using portfolio tools (either paper-based or online) to successfully support students in achieving learning goals in a work-based learning setting. [assessed on application form and at interview]

• Demonstrable relevant experience of working within the criminal justice sector. Additional weighting will be given to those with experience of working in policing within the last 5 years. [assessed on application form and at interview]

• Demonstrable academic credibility across a broad range of general policing areas appropriate to the PCSO role. As this qualification covers a number of topics, we are looking for candidates who can evidence teaching expertise at an appropriate level in the following areas community policing, response policing, the use of information and intelligence at a local level (NIM1) and partnership working at the local level. [assessed on application form and at interview]

• Demonstrable experience of supporting students to achieve the learning outcomes, particularly study skills identified for academic writing, numerical literacy, digital literacy and critical thinking. [assessed on application form and at interview]

• Demonstrable experience of supporting students at a distance including: communicating effectively using email, text, instant messaging or other electronic means. [assessed on application form and at interview]

- Ability and willingness to travel to students’ places of employment and to tutorial venues as required. [assessed on application form and at interview]
- Relevant experience in, or demonstrable understanding of, using synchronous and asynchronous online media in a teaching and learning environment. (Candidates using commercial workplace equivalents will be considered, although greater weighting will be given to candidates with teaching experience through HEI bespoke systems such as OU Online Rooms, Adobe Connect, BlackBoard, Collaborate or equivalents). [assessed on application form and at interview]

- Internet access

It is preferable, but not essential, that you can:

- demonstrate academic credibility and teaching experience across the other areas of the curriculum appropriate to the PCSO role covered in the academic module such as vulnerability and risk, criminology and crime prevention, public protection, digital policing, counter terrorism, criminal justice. [assessed on application form and at interview]

Additional information

Core elements of the generic person specification should be included, candidates should address in particular:

- Experience of working with diverse student cohorts and awareness of differing needs.
- Availability and accessibility to students.
- Good written communication skills in English.

You will be expected to:

- Attend induction face to face events held prior to the apprentice cohort qualification start date at the Police force headquarters site
- Run tutorials face-to-face and online
- Facilitate online forums and work in Adobe Connect for online sessions. Staff development will be available for candidates, as appropriate.
