

Self-assessment: Finding information

1. Introduction

Digital literacy skills empower you to work effectively and safely online whether you're at work, studying or at home. They can also help you when it comes to applying for jobs. This questionnaire is one of four that will help you to learn the skills you need to succeed in a digital age.

This questionnaire is made up of nine questions related to how familiar and confident you are with using effective search strategies to find information online, and keeping up-to-date with areas of interest.

After each question, you will be provided with some suggestions for Being digital activities that you might find useful. We suggest that you bookmark any that are relevant and return to them once you've completed the quiz. You will also be directed to Being digital activities that can help you develop those skills.

Learning outcomes

By the end of this activity you should be able to identify which skills you need to become more confident in finding information.

2. Self-assessment questions

Question 1 of 9

How confident are you at ...

... knowing what kind of information it is possible to find on the web, and which types (news, opinions, experience, theory etc.) would be most appropriate for your needs. Do you know where to find different types of information?

1. I'm very good at identifying the correct type of information, and I know where to go for it.
2. I don't know about different types of information, and wouldn't know if a particular type was more appropriate to what I'm looking for, than another.

Answer to Question 1

1. Even if you are confident, it's always worth revisiting any guidance you can find for additional hints and tips. You will find a list of links to relevant Being digital activities at the end of this quiz.
2. If you can assess the type of information you need, you will be able to target your search to sites that provide specialist information. This will result in more focused search results.

This activity will provide some tips on how to focus on finding the right types of information for your search requirements:

The information universe

Question 2 of 9

How confident are you at ...

...knowing what kind of information you can find in an online library? Do you know what materials are offered by your university, school or college library?

1. I'm fully aware of what my online library can provide, and use it to find relevant materials.
2. I've visited libraries in person before, but I've never explored what might be available online.

Answer to Question 2

1. Even if you are confident, it's always worth revisiting any guidance you can find for additional hints and tips. You will find a list of links to relevant Being digital activities at the end of this quiz.
2. Many places, like the Open University, offer students access to an online library. Today's online libraries provide access to a range of resources – downloadable journals and publications, advice on developing study skills, support material and online video and audio, to name just a few. It's worth getting to know what your online library offers.

These activities provide some information on using online libraries, in particular the Open University library:

What is the online library?

Getting started with the online library

Being digital Copyright © 2020 The Open University

Explore library resources

Question 3 of 9

How confident are you at ...

... using keywords commonly used in your discipline to search for information online? Are you able to pick keywords that reflect the purpose of your search (work, study, social)?

1. I am confident when it comes to choosing keywords.
2. I try to use appropriate keywords, but don't always get the results I expect.

Answer to Question 3

1 Even if you are confident, it's always worth revisiting any guidance you can find for additional hints and tips. You will find a list of links to relevant Being digital activities at the end of this quiz.

2. Most of us choose a couple of obvious terms to put into a search engine, and hope that we get relevant results. Your search will be more focused if you know exactly what you're looking for, and can choose appropriate keywords that reflect this.

This activity will provide some tips on how to use keywords to refine your search:

Choosing good keywords

Question 4 of 9

How confident are you at ...

... using advanced search options to limit and refine your search? Do you know how to use these to limit your search to a particular time frame, region, language, file type or reading level, to get better results?

1. I know about advanced search options, and am confident when it comes to using them.
2. I haven't used an advanced search before, and am not confident that I know how it can help to improve the way I search for information online.

Answer to Question 4

1. Even if you are confident, it's always worth revisiting any guidance you can find for additional hints and tips. You will find a list of links to relevant Being digital activities at the end of this quiz.
2. You can refine your search, and get fewer, but more relevant results, by using the advanced search option of your preferred search engine.

This activity will show you how to use advanced search options to refine your search:

Target your Google search

Question 5 of 9

How confident are you at ...

... knowing when to change your search strategy or to stop searching?

1. I'm confident in my approach to searching, and know when to change my search strategy.
- 2 I'm not sure that I would know of any alternative strategies to use if my search results are not leading me to the information I need.

Answer to Question 5

- 1 Even if you are confident, it's always worth revisiting any guidance you can find for additional hints and tips. You will find a list of links to relevant Being digital activities at the end of this quiz.
2. Knowing when to stop and think about using alternative search strategies to find what you are looking for will save you time, and help you to get to the information you need much quicker.

These activities provide information on some common pitfalls of searching and how to avoid them, and some tips on how to filter search information:

Search slips and tips

Filtering information quickly

Question 6 of 9

How confident are you at ...

... filtering large numbers of search results quickly? If you are faced with a large number of search results, do you know how to make the necessary judgements, including using advanced search functions, to get to the most relevant information quickly?

1. I am used to dealing with large numbers of search results, and make good use of advanced search functions when I search.
2. I don't feel confident dealing with large numbers of search results, and rarely or never use advanced search functions.

Answer to Question 6

1. Even if you are confident, it's always worth revisiting any guidance you can find for additional hints and tips. You will find a list of links to relevant Being digital activities at the end of this quiz.

2. Filtering search results quickly is about developing your own judgement and critical skills. Search engines also provide tools that enable you to filter your search results by refining the search criteria you've used. This can save a great deal of time, and avoid restarting your search from scratch.

This activity introduces you to the process you might go through when dealing with large numbers of search results:

Filtering information quickly

Question 7 of 9

How confident are you at ...

... scanning and skimming a web page to get to the key relevant information quickly?

1. I'm used to scanning and skimming, and have found it very useful.
2. I've heard of this, but have never been taught how to do it effectively.

Answer to Question 7

Being digital Copyright © 2020 The Open University

1. Even if you are confident, it's always worth revisiting any guidance you can find for additional hints and tips. You will find a list of links to relevant Being digital activities at the end of this quiz.

2. You can learn how to scan a series of pages to find the ones that are most relevant to what you are looking for. You can also learn how to skim the content of a page to find the sections that contain the information you need.

This activity will help you to develop scanning and skimming skills:

Scanning and skimming a web page

Question 8 of 9

How confident are you at ...

... keeping up-to-date with news in your subject area, by using online social networking sites?

1. I'm confident that I know how to use social networking sites to find information and keep up-to-date.

2. I don't use social networking sites to find information or keep up-to-date.

Answer to Question 8

1. Even if you are confident, it's always worth revisiting any guidance you can find for additional hints and tips. You will find a list of links to relevant Being digital activities at the end of this quiz.

2. Social networking sites like Twitter and Facebook can be valuable sources of information for work and study. They can be used to share up-to-date information on specific areas of interest.

These activities will help you to use social networking as a source of information:

Keeping up-to-date using online networking

Making the most of Twitter

Social networking – is it for me?

Question 9 of 9

How confident are you at ...

Being digital Copyright © 2020 The Open University

... keeping up-to-date with information from authoritative people or organisations by subscribing to RSS feeds? Do you know what an RSS feed is, and how to use one effectively?

1. I am confident with RSS feeds and use them to keep up-to-date.

2. I've never used RSS feeds before, but would like to find out more about how they can help me keep up-to-date.

Answer to Question 9

1. Even if you are confident, it's always worth revisiting any guidance you can find for additional hints and tips. You will find a list of links to relevant Being digital activities at the end of this quiz.

2. An RSS feed supplies updates to websites by alerting you to new content as it is published. This is done through a free subscription, and the information comes to you, rather than you having to look for it.

These activities provide information on what RSS feeds are, and guidance on how to use them effectively to keep up-to-date:

Keeping up-to-date using RSS

Being digital pathway: Keeping up to date

3. Guidance

Planning your search

Do you know how to choose your keywords and which resources to search? These activities will help you increase your knowledge and confidence in these areas.

Choosing good keywords

Explore library resources

Getting started with the online library

The information universe

What is the online library?

Search strategies

Do you know how to search effectively, including how to filter information and scan a web page? The following activities will increase your knowledge and confidence in these areas.

Target your Google Search

Finding hidden information online

Filtering information quickly

Search slips and tips

Scanning and skimming a web page

Making the most of Twitter

Keeping up-to-date

Do you know which resources to use to keep up-to-date? The following activities provide guidance on how to do this.

Keeping up to date using online networking

Keeping up-to-date using blogs

Keeping up to date using RSS

Social networking: is it for me?

Being digital pathway: Keeping up-to-date

4. Summary

Summary

This activity has helped you assess your confidence in finding information.

Next Steps

Being digital contains more self-assessments. Why not try these?

Self-assessment: Creating information

Self-assessment: Understanding digital practices

Self-assessment: Using information