Open Futures – Creative Writing Scholarship

The Open University is a leading distance learning provider. Our flexible, innovative teaching fits around the lives of students who otherwise could not attend a campus-based university.

The Open Futures Creative Writing Scholarship will generously provide full fee waivers for the Open University MA in Creative Writing (F71) to three UK-resident students from a Black background, whose personal annual income is not more than £25,000, or who are in receipt of a qualifying benefit.

These conditions contain the terms of the Open Futures – Creative Writing Scholarship. They set out the rights and responsibilities of each party which will apply in relation to your application for the scheme and, for successful applicants only, whilst you are a registered student. 6. In circumstances where you are required to repeat, defer or withdraw from a module, consideration will be given to the circumstances which led to the repeat, deferral or withdrawal and an exceptional award of additional waivers or a fee credit may be approved.

7. Decisions on exceptional awards will be made by the Chair, Bursary & Scholarships Management Group or their delegated authority in line with the eligibility criteria for Discretionary Fee Credits detailed in the Fee Rules 2023/24.

20. To support efforts to publicly promote the Open Futures – Creative Writing Scholarship, The Open University would appreciate the support of successful applicants in providing information on the impact to them of receiving the scholarship and in working with the University to shape this content into promotional campaigns. Related to this, successful applicants may be offered the opportunity to take part in fundraising events, forums or other promotional activities.

How were the eligibility criteria decided?

The aim of the scholarship is to open higher education to underrepresented groups and ensure that these students receive the support they need to succeed in their studies. The eligibility criteria were designed to encourage individuals from specific target groups to study the MA in Creative Writing with The Open University.

Why do the entry criteria positively discriminate when The Open University claims to be "open to all"?

We value all our students and we want to do our best to ensure that the OU reflects the whole of our society. Our analysis indicates that currently we have a shortfall in the numbers of students we would like to attract from some groups of UK society. Widening access to and success in higher education is at the heart of the OU's mission. We aim to support students whatever their backgrounds, to reach their potential and fulfil their ambitions.

Why isn’t the scholarship open to all students?

Scholarship funds are limited, it is therefore not possible to open the scheme up to all students. This limit on funds was considered when determining who the scholarship would be available to. The eligibility criteria are in place to maximise the benefits of the scheme and ensure it reaches those who will benefit from it most.
