Open Futures – Environmental Management Scholarship

The Open University is a leading distance learning provider. Our flexible, innovative teaching fits around the lives of students who otherwise could not attend a campus-based university.

Renewable energy is energy derived from natural resources that replenish themselves in less than a human lifetime without depleting the planet’s resources. These sustainable resources – such as sunlight, wind, rain, tides, waves, biomass and thermal energy stored in the earth’s crust – are available in one form or another nearly everywhere. As an essential, practical and widespread response to global climate change, they need to be utilised in an energy-efficient, environmentally acceptable and socially responsible manner. Environmental management, with techniques such as life cycle assessment, will play a vital role in their deployment.

There is an unprecedented momentum for leaving the fossil fuel age behind us and embarking urgently on a path to a sustainable energy future. The Open Futures – Environmental Management Scholarship, provided in partnership with North Energy Associates Ltd and The Open University, aims to provide students who have a passion for assessing effective action to release the potential of renewable energy and energy efficiency with the opportunity to study an MSc in Environmental Management.
